Course description

This course will focus on readings in Forensic Linguistics from The Routledge Handbook in Forensic Linguistics (2013) by Coulthard and Johnson eds.

Other articles may be assigned from The International Journal of Speech, Language and the Law. Also see other potential readings (in your expressed interest of veracity and language) listed at the end of this syllabus.

Prerequisite(s): None

Required Texts

All course materials will be provided by the instructor.

Department objectives

1. Develop students’ practical skills in reading, writing, and reasoning, and research skills in traditional print as well as electronic sources.

2. Enable students to think critically and analytically, and to communicate effectively in a variety of contexts.

3. Promote students’ understanding of literary and cultural history.

4. Empower students to understand and write about texts, as well as produce original texts.

5. Train students to apply the skills they have learned in the discipline to a variety of situations.

Course objectives

1. Encourage students to think about the nature of English studies as a discipline, leading to a variety of professional opportunities, and about the field’s various critical and pedagogical strategies.

2. Instill an awareness of English studies as a diverse and dynamic field which includes writing, linguistics, literature in translation, and culturally diverse texts in World, British, and American literature.
Program Learning Outcomes

1. The student will demonstrate the ability to think critically and perform close readings of linguistic-related texts.

2. The student will demonstrate the ability to comprehend and apply both traditional and contemporary methods in linguistics to language.

3. The student will demonstrate the ability to integrate theories and methodologies of the linguistics course with that of other disciplines taught at the university.

4. The student will demonstrate the ability to perform original research and/or data analysis relevant to linguistic study.

5. The student will demonstrate the ability to effectively communicate results of research and/or data analysis in a medium appropriate for the academic level.

Coursework Requirements and Grading Policy

- For 1 hour of credit, we will meet weekly to discuss the assigned reading(s). A 2-3 page summary and five discussion questions are required for each reading. Your grade will be based on attendance, participation, and quality of the summaries.

Final Course Grade

A 100%-90%     B 89.9%-80%     C 79.9%-70%     D 69.9%-60%     F 59.9% and below
Excellent       Good           Average         Below Avg.

Each assignment is worth 100 points and will be graded as follows:

A+ 100; A 95; A- 92; B+ 88; B 85; B- 82; C+ 78; C 75; C- 72; D+ 68; D 65; D- 62

Scores lower than 62 will receive a score in accordance with the quality of work which was submitted.

When I go over the assignment in class a week before it is due, I highlight what I am looking for. I take the assignment as a whole; I have found that using a rubric in this course to grade assignments consistently results in lower scores as it doesn’t allow me to look at the big picture.

Definition of Grades

An assignment which receives an A far exceeds my expectations. It shows mastery all of the content, it is well organized and professionally presented, offers plentiful critical analysis and original insight, and contains plenty of examples. I think, “This is exemplary work.”

An assignment which receives a B exceeds my expectations. It shows near mastery of all of the content, it is generally well organized and presented, it offers some critical analysis and insight, and contains sufficient examples. I think, “This is excellent work, but needs some polish.”
An assignment which receives a C meets my expectations. It shows more or less a general mastery of most of the content, has organization and some facets of a professional presentation, relies more on repeating information rather than offering critical analysis and insight, and could benefit from examples. I think, “This is the average of what I expected.”

An assignment which receives a D falls below my expectations. It shows a sketchy mastery of content, isn’t very well organized or presented professionally, doesn’t offer much (if any) critical analysis or insight, and lacks sufficient examples. I think, “This doesn’t demonstrate that the student is confident in the material.”

An assignment which receives an F usually doesn’t follow the assignment directions, is plagiarized, or is incomplete. It shows little or no mastery of content, lacks organization and professional presentation, relies only on repeating what others have said, and offers very few or no examples.

Course policies

- Adults make arrangements. They also take responsibility, are held accountable, and accept the consequences of their actions.

- Attendance, Participation, and Preparation

  o Regular, prompt attendance, active participation, preparation, and adherence to the syllabus policies are expected.

  o If you miss class, you are responsible to find out from a classmate what you missed. Do not ask me. You can get notes from them and find out if you missed any announcements. After speaking to a classmate, if you have specific questions, please see me. I will not give you a private lecture over what you missed in class. Period.

- I post all assignments and unofficial grades on D2L (the grade on your assignment is official). Do not contact me about your grade until after you have had the assignment returned to you and you have read my comments. Please notify me immediately if the grade posted on D2L does not match the grade on your paper. Students should keep all graded work until final grades have been posted. I do not monitor or respond to e-mails sent via D2L; all e-mails should be sent to samscc@sfasu.edu. For D2L technical support, contact student support in the Office of Instructional Technology (OIT) at d2l@sfasu.edu or 936-468-1919. If you call after regular business hours or on a weekend, please leave a voicemail.

- Check your titan@sfasu.edu e-mail account daily during the week. I return most e-mails within 24 hours. If you don’t hear back from me within 24 hours on a weekday, please resend your e-mail—I may not have received it. This is a professional atmosphere; e-mails should have a subject, salutation (if for initial contact), body, and signature.
Some important notes about this particular class:

• For every assignment that you do for this class, please make sure to write the following at the top of each page in 18 pt bold font (if this is not done for a graded assignment, the assignment will not be graded and receive a 0):

ENG 458 FORENSIC LINGUISTIC CLASS EXERCISE

• This course is largely about detail and objectivity; avoid being vague and be sure to offer examples for any claims that you make. Your assignments should be clear, precise, and professional.

• Our job as forensic linguists is to evaluate language; we are not responsible for the role of the legal system, law enforcement, or, to a large extent, psychologists. The less extra information we know about a case, the better.

• Some of the material in the course is profane, graphic, melancholy, controversial, or violent in nature; I do not censor the material.

• None of the material used in this class is to be published in any form e.g., online, as part of a story, a research paper without my express permission. Material is not to be discussed with anyone not in the class without my express permission.

• There is an understanding that you will not use any of the skills you acquire in this course to directly or indirectly violate the law.

Attendance:

The attendance policy for this course is the official SFASU policy as stated at:

http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/class_attendance_excused_abs.asp.

Acceptable Student Behavior:

Classroom behavior should not interfere with the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to learn from the instructional program (see the Student Conduct Code, policy D-34.1). Unacceptable or disruptive behavior will not be tolerated. Students who disrupt the learning environment may be asked to leave class and may be subject to judicial, academic, or other penalties. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including electronic, classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The instructor shall have full discretion over what behavior is appropriate/inappropriate in the classroom. Students who do not attend class regularly or who perform poorly on class projects/exams may be referred to the Early Alert Program. This program provides students with recommendations for resources or other assistance available to help SFA students succeed.

• Arriving late to class, text messaging, sleeping, or working on material for another class makes you look unconcerned and disrespectful.
Academic Integrity (A-9.1):

Academic integrity is the responsibility of all university faculty and students. Faculty members promote academic integrity in multiple ways, including instruction on the components of academic honesty as well as abiding by university policy on penalties for cheating and plagiarism. Academic dishonesty includes both cheating and plagiarism. Cheating includes but is not limited to (1) using or attempting to use unauthorized materials to aid in achieving a better grade on a component of a class; (2) the falsification or invention of any information, including citations, on an assigned exercise; and/or (3) helping or attempting to help another in an act of cheating or plagiarism. Plagiarism is presenting the words or ideas of another person as if they were your own. Examples of plagiarism are (1) submitting an assignment as if it were one’s own work when, in fact, it is at least partly the work of another; (2) submitting a work that has been purchased or otherwise obtained from an Internet source or another source; and (3) incorporating the words or ideas of an author into one’s paper without giving the author due credit. Please read the complete policy at:

http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/academic_integrity.asp.

Withheld Grades Policy (A-54):

The following is taken from SFASU’s Policy Manual (2012), “Semester Grades Policy” (A-54). At the discretion of the instructor of record and with the approval of the academic chair/director, a grade of WH will be assigned only if the student cannot complete the course work because of unavoidable circumstances. Students must complete the work within one calendar year from the end of the semester in which they receive a WH, or the grade automatically becomes an F. If students register for the same course in future terms, the WH will automatically become an F and will be counted as a repeated course for the purpose of computing the grade point average.

Students with Disabilities:

To obtain disability-related accommodations, alternate formats and/or auxiliary aids, students with disabilities must contact the Office of Disability Services (ODS), Human Services Building 325, 468-3004 / 468-1004 (TDD) as early as possible in the semester. Once verified, ODS will notify the course instructor and outline the accommodation and/or auxiliary aids to be provided. Failure to request services in a timely manner may delay your accommodations. For additional information, go to http://www.sfasu.edu/disabilityservices/.

End-of-semester procedures

If Assignment 4 is late and there are extenuating circumstances, you have 24 hours from the time it is due to contact me via e-mail or it will receive a 0.

Your final assignment grade and final course grade will be posted on D2L after the close of online evaluations.

“JackText grade notification is available to students who sign up for it. This service sends a text to the student each time a grade is posted to their account. This should eliminate some of their anxiety when awaiting grades posting, as they will be notified the moment the grade is rolled into their academic history. Instructions for signing up for JackText can be accessed at http://www.sfasu.edu/5418.asp.”
If you don’t make arrangements to pick up assignments by the posting of grades at the end of the following semester (summer is not considered a semester for this purpose), they are shredded for your privacy.
