REQUIRED TEXTS

2) Texas Government: Theory & Politics edited by Alan Baily
   ISBN: 9781524922351

All texts are required. If you choose to use older/newer editions, you are responsible for reading the correct material when chapter numbers or reading titles differ from those listed on the syllabus.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

General Education Core Curriculum Objectives
In any given semester, one or more of the following Core Curriculum Objectives for the political science Foundational Component Area may be assessed. See the Texas-Mandated Assessment Rubric below for more information.

Program Learning Outcomes
This course is a general education core curriculum course and no specific program learning outcomes for a political science major are addressed in this course.

CLASSROOM POLICIES

This is an online course, so you will be required to engage in self-study and utilize self-reminders about deadlines and requirements. Please be close attention to the course schedule below. We will maintain regular contact throughout the semester through D2L email and the course’s newsfeed. Check both frequently.
Late assignments are not accepted. Make-up exams will only be allowed under exceptional circumstances (see evaluation section below). Having another exam or paper due that day is not an exceptional circumstance. Grades are non-negotiable.

Let’s take a moment to address civil discourse. The respectful exchange of ideas is a requirement of this course. Make it a goal to develop critical thinking about the American political system. As such, I encourage you to ask questions and to (respectfully) challenge assumptions of class discussions. You are allowed to express your opinion. Please do so in a reasoned, professional manner. Please also remember that your fellow students are allowed to express their (potentially different) opinions. Stated another way, encourage you to provide documentation (aka grades)

EVALUATION (aka grades)

Grades will be determined by discussions, think-pieces, and three examinations. Each course component is a percentage (or weight) of your final course grade. See below.

Discussion – 25%
You will be required to post in multiple discussion activities (or forums) each week and to provide at least two (2) responses/replies to your classmates’ posts in each discussion activity (or forum). For most lessons, this means you’ll submit a total of two posts and four replies. The discussions will require you to analyze the material presented and, at times, offer an argument about a particular component of the material. Treat your posts and replies as small writing assignments. Use proper punctuation and spelling. Pay close attention to grammar and word choice. The quality of your writing impacts your ability to present an argument. As such, I will deduct points for poor quality writing.

Exams – 75%
Each exam (excluding make-up exams) includes 50 questions in multiple-choice and/or short answer format. You will have 60 minutes to complete each exam. Points will be deducted for failing to submit the exam within 60 minutes. There will be three exams, each including questions from only one segment of the course. Exams will include questions drawn from required reading and lesson material. You are responsible for each of these.

Makeup exams will be given only in the case of documented illness, documented emergencies or University related absences. Makeup exams may be more difficult than scheduled exams – that is, they may include only short-answer questions. If you miss an exam, it is your responsibility to inform me why you were unable to complete the exam, to provide documentation, and to make time in your schedule to take a makeup exam. If the absence meets the above criteria, we will schedule a makeup exam. No exams will be given early.

WITHHELD GRADES

The following is taken from SFASU’s Policy Manual (2017), “Semester Grades Policy” (A-54). At the discretion of the instructor of record and with the approval of the academic chair/director, a grade of WH will be assigned only if the student cannot complete the course work because of unavoidable circumstances. Students must complete the work within one calendar year from the end of the semester in which they receive a WH, or the grade automatically becomes an F. If students register for the same course in future semesters, the WH will automatically become an F and will be counted as a repeated course for the purpose of computing the grade point average.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

“Academic integrity is a responsibility of all university faculty and students. Faculty members promote academic integrity in multiple ways including instruction on the components of academic honesty, as well as abiding by university policy on penalties for cheating and plagiarism.” - SFASU’s Policy Manual (2017), section on “Academic Integrity” (A-9)

Definition of Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty includes both cheating and plagiarism. Cheating includes but is not limited to (1) using or attempting to use unauthorized materials to aid in achieving a better grade on a component of a class; (2) the falsification or invention of any information, including citations, on an assigned exercise; and/or (3) helping or attempting to help another in an act of cheating or plagiarism. Plagiarism is presenting the words or ideas of another person as if they were your own. Examples of plagiarism are (1) submitting an assignment as if it were one's own work when, in fact, it is at least partly the work of another; (2) submitting a work that has been purchased or otherwise obtained from an Internet source or another source; and (3) incorporating the words or ideas of an author into one's paper without giving the author due credit.

Please read the complete policy at http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/academic_integrity.asp. All cases of academic dishonesty will be handled according to University policies and procedures (A-9.1). The consequences for academic dishonesty may range from a score of zero (0) on the assignment to an “F” for the course. For details, students should refer to the SFA Policy Manual (2017) or the University’s General Bulletin, 2017 – 2018 section entitled “Academic Integrity” and other sources of University policy.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

To obtain disability related accommodations, alternate formats and/or auxiliary aids, students with disabilities must contact the Office of Disability Services (ODS), Human Services Building, and Room 325, 468-3004 / 468-1004 (TDD) as early as possible in the semester. Once verified, ODS will notify the course instructor and outline the accommodation and/or auxiliary aids to be provided. Failure to request services in a timely manner may delay your accommodations. For additional information, go to http://www.sfasu.edu/disabilityservices/.
NOTE: This calendar is subject to change. Be sure to read all lesson/notes material in each D2L module/lesson.
