Course Description: Study of the application of interpersonal communication principles and theories in situations involving personal crisis skills.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO’S):
1. The student will be able to develop an understanding of theoretical principles
2. The student will be able to make practical application of the theories.
3. The student will be able to understand the roles that self-awareness, self-concept, perception, adaptation to change, and belief systems play in effective interpersonal communication.
4. Students will be able to use an appropriate methodology to conduct a critical, humanistic, or social scientific study of a research question in communication.

Text, Materials and Class Expectations:
2. The SFA Way Honor Code will be the standard. The five points are: caring, respect unity, responsibility and integrity. If you disrespect the professor or disrupt the class, you will be required to leave the class.

3. If you are going to miss an exam, notify the professor by email or phone in advance!!!

4. Dressing appropriately.

5. This class is an opportunity to study and research how communication works, what makes it work more and less effectively, and how to improve it. It is an opportunity for you to ground that knowledge by associating it with your own situation and experiences. It is a scholarly forum. It is an upper college-level class, so you must provide your best academic work to earn a high grade.

6. No food or drink (except water) in class room.

7. Due to department budget, long distance cell phone calls will not be returned.

Acceptable Student Behavior
Classroom behavior should not interfere with the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to learn from the instructional program (see the Student Conduct Code, policy D-34.1). Unacceptable or disruptive behavior will not be tolerated. Students who disrupt the learning environment may be asked to leave class and may be subject to judicial, academic or other penalties. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including electronic, classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The instructor shall have full discretion over what behavior is appropriate/inappropriate in the classroom. Students who do not attend class regularly or who perform poorly on class projects/exams may be referred to the Early Alert Program. This program provides students with recommendations for resources or other assistance that is available to help SFA students succeed.

Students with Disabilities:
To obtain disability related accommodation, alternate formats and/or auxiliary aids, students with disabilities must contact the office of Disability Services(ODS), Human Services Building, and Room 324, 468-3004 / 468-12004 (TDD) as early as possible in the semester. Once verified, ODS will notify the course instructor and outline the accommodation and/or auxiliary aids to be provided. Failure to request services in a timely manner may delay your accommodations. For additional information, go to http://www.sfasu.edu/disabilityservices/.

Attendance
Be in class on time. The door may be locked at the designated time for class to start. If you are going to miss an exam, notify the professor in advance by email.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is a responsibility of all university faculty and students. Faculty members promote academic integrity in multiple ways including instruction on the components of academic honesty, as well as abiding by university policy on penalties for cheating and plagiarism. Definition of Academic Dishonesty. Academic dishonesty includes both cheating and plagiarism. Cheating includes but is not limited to (1) using or attempting to use unauthorized materials to aid in achieving a better grade on a components of a class; (2) the falsification or invention of any information, including citations, on an assigned exercise; and/or (3) helping or attempting to help another in an act of cheating or plagiarism. Plagiarism is presenting the words or ideas of another person as if they were your own. Examples of plagiarism are (1) submitting an assignment as if it were one’s own work that has been purchased or otherwise obtained from an internet source or another source; and (3) incorporating the words or ideas of an author into one’s paper without giving the author due credit. Students are expected to read and abide by the university policy on academic integrity. You will find a copy of this policy web address below. If a student is found to be in violation of any part of this policy, he/she will be subject to receiving a failing grade for this course, and the violation will be reported to the proper university authorities. You will find the university policy on academic integrity at http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/academic_integrity.asp
