COURSE SYLLABUS

I. COURSE DESCRIPTION

SOCW 5440 (Filed Instruction IV) is a 250 hour block placement in a social service agency and is considered a vital part of the capstone experience of field education in the MSW Program. This Specialized practice field course provides students with advanced practice opportunities to build on the competencies gained in the generalist practice experience in foundation field. The central purpose of Specialized practice field is to prepare students for autonomous advanced generalist social work practice in the rural context. Goals of Specialized practice field are to promote increased awareness of self and leadership as a developing advanced professional and to gain mastery in differential assessment and specialized interventions with individuals and families.

The Specialized practice field consists of a 3 (three) hour weekly seminar (SOCW 5339) taken concurrently with (SOCW 5440) and (SOCW 5441). The field seminar (SOCW 5339) serves as a vehicle to discuss practice issues encountered in field and as a support group for the complex experience of becoming an advanced professional social worker. Structured learning experiences in seminar allow students to integrate advanced knowledge acquired in the classroom with practice experiences in the agency. In addition, students explore reflectively the interrelationships between human behavior, social policy, research and practice content with advanced practice experiences in the agency. Students are expected to identify ways in which their social work practice can be evaluated for effectiveness, its congruence with the ethical context of the profession, and competence in serving diverse and rural populations and international communities.
III. CURRICULUM DESCRIPTION

The MSW program of SFASU features a generalist foundation and a single Specialized practice: Advanced Generalist Practice in a Rural Context. Both are defined below.

It is important to note here that the BSW program and the MSW program have developed a shared definition of generalist practice, given below.

Generalist practice is a practice perspective that serves diverse client systems utilizing an ecological systems approach focusing on persons, families, groups, organizations and communities within the context of the rural social environment. It is not confined by a narrow cadre of theories; rather; it is versatile enough to allow problems and situations as well as strengths, capacities and resources to determine the practice approach. Generalist practice employs a problem solving framework and a broad knowledge, value and skill base which demands ethical practice and on-going self-assessment. Briefly, generalist social work practice:

• Is multi-level to include individuals, families, groups, organizations and communities.
• Is multi-theory, allowing for the free selection of theories as appropriate.
• Utilizes problem identification and solving focus that follows a problem-solving framework.
• Addresses the complexity of individual, family, group, organizational and community system interactions.
• Requires and integration of awareness, competence, and professional response to issues of values, ethics, diversity, culture, social justice and populations-at-risk.

Advanced generalist practice builds on the generalist foundation, incorporating the elements listed above, but characterized by a greater depth, breadth, and autonomy as demonstrated through specialized knowledge across problem areas, populations-at-risk and practice settings, with a greater selection of diverse interactions across practice levels.

Briefly, advanced generalist practice requires:

• The ability to engage and differentially assess complex problems with systems of all sizes, with a variety of advanced assessment skills.
• Specialized evidence-based interventions with systems of all sizes.
• Differential evaluation techniques with systems of all sizes.
• Strategies to advocate for clients and constituencies influenced by rural lifestyles.
• Readiness for leadership in a variety of areas including: program development, coordination and administration; clinical and organizational supervision; policy creation, reform and implementation; leadership in research development and utilization, particularly in interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary practice settings; professional
The specialized practice for the MSW program is advanced generalist practice for rural contexts. Theories that describe and predict rural ecological systems and rural strengths, including the incredibly rich interactions, simple and complex, formal and informal, wholesome and debilitating are emphasized. On this basis, the curriculum of the MSW Program emphasizes the ecological systems approach, the strengths perspective, and the social capital and social exchange theories.

Rural context refers to social work practice with people with rural lifestyles and systems of all sizes within and outside of rural communities. There is no single accepted definition of rural. In fact, just as generalist practice in social work draws on multiple theories, generalist practice in rural contexts recognizes the many definitions currently in use and their advantages and disadvantages for research, practice, and advocacy. The School of Social Work at SFA utilizes several of these definitions within the United States and globally including:

The United States Census Bureau (urbanized areas, urban clusters, and rural populations); Office of Management and Budget (metropolitan, micropolitan, and non-core), Economic Research Service (rural urban continuum codes); and the United Nations that defines urban and rural according to the census definition for each nation, but suggests a definition of rural areas as having a population of less than 2,000 for international comparisons.

V. INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

Through on-site supervision by an agency field instructor, students engage in educationally directed practice activities in a social service agency. The agency field instructor provides structured educational supervision to the student for at least one hour per week. Students are also required to apply classroom theory and concepts with professional social work practice, thus practice activities, related seminar discussion and written assignments are designed to aid the student in this process. Students can expect their respective faculty liaison to visit their agency at least three times during the semester. Additional liaison visits may occur should problems/needs arise. The assigned faculty liaison is also a resource to the Agency Social worker and is utilized to assist in the identification and development of appropriate educational learning experiences for the student in agency setting.

V. COMPUTER REQUIREMENTS
This course will utilize Desire2Learn or D2L to support the delivery of course content (for help with Desire2Learn go to http://www.sfasu.edu/sfaonline/). Students can also get regarding the use of a word processor and web browser. You must have access to a computer that meets the university’s minimum computer system requirements (for specific details go to http://sfaonline.sfasu.edu/gettingstarted.html). Computers are available to you through a number of labs across campus (see www.sfasu.edu or the instructor for details).

VII. COURSE SCHEDULE

Students adhere to the policies and procedures of the social service agency under the supervision and direction of the Agency Social Worker and in conjunction with the faculty liaison. Students follow a Learning Plan designed to drive their day-to-day performance in their demonstration of the 56 component behaviors that augment the Ten Core Competencies of the program. During the weekly SWK 539 integrative seminar, students are able to connect practice experiences to the content discussed. (See Course Schedule for SWK 539).

IX. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
Honesty and representing one’s knowledge and abilities appropriately are important ethical principles of the social work profession. All incidents will result in a grade of “0”. Given the limited number of graded assignments in this course, a “0” could have serious consequences for the student’s academic standing.

Academic integrity is a responsibility of all university faculty and students. Faculty members promote academic integrity in multiple ways including instruction on the components of academic honesty, as well as abiding by university policy on penalties for cheating and plagiarism.

Definition of Academic Dishonesty
Academic dishonesty includes both cheating and plagiarism. Cheating includes but is not limited to (1) using or attempting to use unauthorized materials to aid in achieving a better grade on a component of a class; (2) the falsification or invention of any information, including citations, on an assigned exercise; and/or (3) helping or attempting to help another in an act of cheating or plagiarism. Plagiarism is presenting the words or ideas of another person as if they were your own. Examples of plagiarism are (1) submitting an assignment as if it were one's own work when, in fact, it is at least partly the work of another; (2) submitting a work that has been purchased or otherwise obtained from an Internet source or another source; and (3) incorporating the words or ideas of an author into one's paper without giving the author due credit.

Please read the Student Academic Dishonesty policy (SFA Policy 4.1) on http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/student_academic_dishonesty.pdf

Please also read the Academic Integrity Policy on the SFA Graduate School's website at http://www.sfasu.edu/graduate/

Acceptable Student Behavior

The MSW Student Handbook and Academic and MSW Professional Integrity Code outline acceptable student behavior. Classroom behavior should not interfere with the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to learn from the instructional program (see the Student Conduct of Conduct (SFA Policy 10.4). Unacceptable or disruptive behavior will not be tolerated. Students who disrupt the learning environment may be asked to leave class and may be subject to judicial, academic or other penalties. This prohibition applies to all instructional forums, including electronic, classroom, labs, discussion groups, visits to agencies, field trips, etc. The instructor shall have full discretion over what behavior is appropriate or inappropriate in the classroom. Students who do not attend class regularly or who perform poorly on class projects/exams may be referred to the Early Alert Program. This program provides students with recommendations for resources or other assistance that is available to help SFA students succeed. Please see the following link for the complete policy: http://www.sfasu.edu/policies/student-code-of-conduct_10.4.pdf

X. STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
To obtain disability related accommodations, alternate formats and/or auxiliary aids, students with disabilities must contact the Office of Disability Services (ODS), Human Services Building, and Room 325, 468-1004 (TDD) as early as possible in the semester. Once verified, ODS will notify the course instructor and outline the accommodation and/or auxiliary aids to be provided. Failure to request services in a timely manner may delay your accommodations. For additional information, read Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities (SFA Policy 6.1)
